THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By ROBERT PATTERSON

Pleas and Protests

When the shouting, cheering, and weeping are done, when the cannonading is over and today's guns have been flung on the junk heap, it may be discovered that the week's most important news was not on the front page headlines but tucked away in the inside columns marked "Letters to the Editor." For the "Letters to the Editor" pages of the country's newspapers and national journals showed an angry and warlike temper which had burst forth from the American people with stunning swiftness. They were pleased not only to aid the Allies to the limit of the nation's power ,but even hot-tempered demands to enter the war. Far from being led by Congress or the President, the temper of many communications was far ahead of either parties in the heat of their denunciations, the warmth of their demands for aggressive action by this nation. Lost sight of in this general indignation is that this country is even less prepared for war than were the Allies. All possible weapons or machines of war are now being sped to Britain and France, which is the most that can be done in the way of immediate war aid. The real task facing America today, toward which all energies should be directed, is to put its brain power and manpower to work and set the defense program in action.

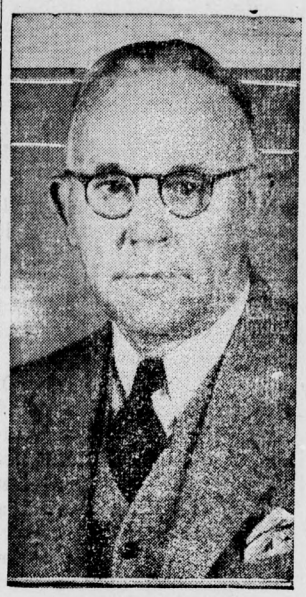
The GOP Clears the Decks

With a fanfare, flourish, and high hopes, Republican delegates from throughout the nation are descending on historic Philadelphia for the party's national convention, opening on June 24. Wendell Willkie, dark horse and white hope of many a grass roots Republican, confidently declares the national defense emergency has brightened his party's chances of victory in November, a conviction voiced by his fellow candidates for the nomination. A spectacular battle in the grand style is forecast at the nominating convention, for the two outstanding competitors for the honor of carrying the party's standard at the polls, may be running nearly a neck and neck race. Still holding to his early lead is Thomas E. Dewey, hard-pressed by Wendell Willkie, a new challenger who, within a few weeks, has risen from nowhere to second place in the favor of Republican voters. With these two contestants matched against each other, there'll be reason for Philadelphia's greeting bands to play, "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight!"

Our Policy Still Stands

A small earthquake shook the Americas the other day when President Vargas of Brazil delivered a speech that sounded suspiciously like a salvo for dictatorships. The "good neighbor" policy has wisely stressed the solidarity of the Americas, their common interest in defending the western hemisphere against the threat of foreign invasion. But that policy, perhaps unwisely, has not also made clear that the Latin American nations are not democracies in our sense of the word, that their traditions and culture stem from the monarchies, and not the republics, of Europe, that strong, paternalistic governments are still the rule, not the exception, below the Rio Grande. None of these facts disputes the need of a firm, united policy by all the Americas against foreign aggression. Whether the countries of South America are absolute monarchies, socialist states, or theocracies it would still be essential for the United States, in the interests of national security, to rigorously oppose aggression by foreign powers in this hemisphere. President Vargas may have uttered an unwise speech. He has done nothing to alter our adherence to the Monroe Doctrine.

McKinnon Will Preside At Sewer Dedication 26th



JOSEPH McKINNON

The Chamber of Commerce of Campbell, at a special meeting held Monday, June 17, unanimously voted in favor of celebrating the completion of the new $350,000 Campbell sewer project.

June 26 was set for the dedication ceremony which will be held in the Campbell Union grammar school auditorium.

The time of the parade will be announced in the daily papers and will depend on the time of the broadcast of the dedication which will be over station KQW.

The program for the evening will include a street parade from the business district to the school. The Northern California Music project orchestra of 27 musicians under the direction of James Thompson, Jr., will furnish a program of popular and concert music. There will be a soprano solo by Miss Emelia Rodriques, and an eccentric tap dance by Miss Pat Fisher, a solo by eight year old Frankie Cavatio, an acrobatic baton routine by Joan Soto, age 10; a ballet dance by Miss Marion Jacobson and a Spanish dance by Miss Charmain Parker, both of Campbell.

Joseph McKinnon, supervisor of district 4 will be master of ceremonies. Charles Prentiss, W. P. A. project director for Santa Clara county will make the presentation address, transfering the project to the Campbell Sanitary District board. Dr. W. I. Merrill, a member of the board, will accept the transfer on behalf of the board and the citizens of Campbell.

At the conclusion of the dedication ceremony, there will be a street dance in the business district for the younger people.

Dr. Merrill in an interview, stated, "Many people do not realize the full scope of this project. In the town proper and from Campbell to the San Jose outfall at Fifth and Burton streets in San Jose, there are 79,000 lineal feet of concrete piping or slightly less than fifteen miles of pipe laid. In Campbell proper there are 25,000 lineal feet of laterals or nearly four and three-quarters miles of piping which will render service to over 1100 present and future homes.

"An engineering feat of real consequence was driving a 36-inch corrugated metal pipe through the ground under the Southern Pacific railroad tracks at Newhall street in San Jose, requiring continuous operation of three shifts working eight hours each, to prevent "freezing." This was accomplished with two 15-ton power jacks, in the record-breaking time of 14 days."

Robert W. Meal, district manager of district 9, stated, "Campbell has a sanitation system to be proud of. The project afforded over 600 W. P. A. workers mostly from Campbell and vicinity gainful employment during the past winter when regular employment was at low ebb."

School Elections Held As Usual

In the flurry of graduation activities, printing programs and other incidents, a report of the recent school trustee election was overlooked last week.

Emmet Farnham was elected to the Campbell grammar school board without opposition. Of the candidates for the high school board, Dr. F. R. Anderson was returned and John D. Blaine received a few more votes than M. C. Vennum, whom he will succeed.

Parade Planned

Every effort is being made to have a parade on next Wednesday evening to open the dedicatory ceremonies celebrating the completion of the Campbell Sanitary system. I desire to personally request and to urge every citizen to interest himself in this event and to take some part in the parade, either a decorated auto or business truck or in a marching group. Further announcement will be made as to time and place of formation.

W. I. Merrill, Chairman
Dedication Committee.

Janice Soutar Becomes Bride of Ralph Kammerer

Exchanging marriage vows at Phoenix, Ariz., on May 31, were Miss Janice Soutar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Soutar of Rincon avenue, and Ralph Kammerer of Long Beach.

They were married at the Presbyterian parsonage by Dr. Merrill, a friend of the Kammerer family, and were attended by three young couples, all of Phoenix.

The bride wore a gown of dusty pink silk with navy accessories. Her flowers were an orchid corsage.

After the ceremony the newly-weds treated their attendants to a chicken dinner where they were honored by the orchestra and vocalist with several selections appropriate for the occasion.

After spending several days in Phoenix, Mr. and Mrs. Kammerer returned to Long Beach where they will be at home to friends in 2235 Locust avenue.

Mrs. Jessie Campbell is spending two weeks at her Capitola cottage.

Kiwanians of Los Gatos, Campbell Entertain Ladies

Members of the Kiwanis clubs of Campbell and Los Gatos with their wives were given inside information and a few secrets of the work of a sports broadcaster, when Doug Montel, sportscaster for the Associated Oil company, talked Tuesday evening at a ladies' night meeting on "Behind the Scenes In Broadcasting."

Certainly his listeners will more fully enjoy future broadcasts when they can visualize the preparatory work and the actual scenes taking place in the broadcasting booth.

Montel has a very pleasing way of presenting his work, with just enough of humor to make his talk more entertaining.

He was introduced with a typical radio "build-up" by G. E. Farley who presided as chairman, after the welcome by President Herold W. Morton.

Song leader Axel Granstrom introduced a fun making stunt and also presented Miss Josephine Barbano, who sang, "Only A Rose" and a selection from La Boheme, and in response to an insistent encore "Indian Love Call."

The tables were centered with bouquets of pink and blue flowers and a mass arrangement of pink hydranges and gladioli was very effective.

Next week Floyd Byrne of San Jose will speak on "New Ideas and Inventions In Industry," with Ray Bishop doing the honors.

Theta Rho Girls Sponsor Sport Dance June 22

The Theta Rho girls of Campbell are sponsoring a sport dance on Saturday, June 22. The affair will be held in the Campbell high school gymnasium and a popular San Jose orchestra will furnish the music. The theme of the dance is "The Little Cafe Around the Corner" and the gym will be decorated in keeping with the theme.

This dance will be the largest fete sponsored by the girls since the club was organized in March. They are in hopes of a large crowd. If enough money is raised the girls plan to send some girls to camp and help the funds of the club.

Thelma Weltz, vice president, is general chairman over all the committees. Bids can be secured from Marilyn Williamson or any other member of the organization.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Shank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Shank, received her bachelor of arts degree in psychology from Pembroke college at Providence, Rhode Island, Monday. Miss Shank was very active in all types of sports and in various social and cultural societies of the college.

MRS. LYDIA WHITMAN IS SUMMONED

Friends and acquaintances by scores are mourning the loss of Mrs. Lydia Whitman, whose sudden death in Silverton, Ore., was learned yesterday in word received by her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Chritchlow of San Jose.

Mrs. Whitman came to Campbell from Centerville, S. D., after her marriage to Chauncey H. Whitman, and almost immediately by her sweet and gracious personality, intellectual attainments, and fine Christian character, became one of its best loved citizens. It was with deep regret on her part and theirs that she left after the death of her husband, to make her home at Silverton, with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Sylvester.

Her return visits have been a real joy to her friends who always hoped she might again come to stay.

In Centerville she had held several important positions, in the post office, as secretray to a county official, but especially as editor of the Centerville Journal, which she left in charge of a brother after her marriage.

She served here as an officers of the Country Woman's club and was president for her second year at the time of leaving. She was an active member of the San Jose Woman's club, the Santa Clara county branch of the American Pen Women, and with her husband both devoted members of the First Presbyterian church of San Jose.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in the First Presbyterian church on North Third street in San Jose, in charge of the Rodger Darling mortuary.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Hyde announced the engagement of their son, Homer Husted Hyde, at a family gathering at their home Sunday evening.

This followed a previous announcement which the bride-to-be, Miss Kathryn Ray, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Ray of Pocatello, Idaho, had made to her intimate girl friends at Stanford before her graduation in the June class.

The young people plan a wedding in the early fall and will be at Stanford next year where Homer will complete his two year course in the graduate school of business.

Miss Helen Robinson of Oakland and Mrs. Richard Robinson, Berkeley, made a stop-over visit here with the T. A. Robinson family on their return trip from Lansing, Mich., where they had purchased a new car. From Michigan they went south and visited relatives of Mrs. Richard Robinson in Texas and Arizona.

HE MADE GOOD

Plenty of brain and brawn will be needed to start the defense program moving into action in as short a time as possible. The one man who, next to the president, has the biggest responsibility for putting that program into motion, can boast plenty of brains and brawn both.

The man is William S. Knudsen.

As the climax of one of those poverty to riches stories that only America could produce, this broad shouldered, quiet speaking executive now finds himself directing a stupendous undertaking for the country in a great hour of need. Yet it was not so many years ago that a brawny, young Danish immigrant arrived on these shores with no prospects, no influential friends, nothing to help him but two well-muscled arms and a good head on his shoulders. He found a job as an apprentice mechanic. Later he became superintendent of a bicycle shop. From there he went to work for Henry Ford. Through the years, his practical knowledge of production problems won him increasing esteem—and ultimately the offer of presidency of General Motors.

He, along with Edward R. Stettinius, and other members of the Advisory Defense council, give welcome proof that among the nation's great army of private citizens, there is no lack of persons with the stature, willingness and ability to man important posts of leadership in time of national emergency.

ANCHORING THE FARMER

Good news for California is growing reform movements in Congress for drastic changes in farm policy. One of its first objectives is to anchor farmers to the land and check the floods of migration to California.

The need for such a call to action is evident in the challenging situation of American agriculture. While the number of persons employed in agriculture has dropped in the last 30 years by nearly two million, the total farm population of 32 million has remained the same. In that period, the march of technology, better land utilization and farm management have wrought momentous changes. Where 32 million persons on farms fed themselves and 58 million others in 1910, that same farm population in 1940 feed themselves and 99 million others. The problem in a nutshell is that farm jobs are growing steadily fewer while the productivity of the farmer—now 50 per cent greater than in 1910—steadily advances.

As qualified experts see it, the only real solution lies in developing new channels of consumption for farm products. Those channels will certainly not be found overseas in the near future. Until new trade lanes are opened in the 48 states, the least that can be done is to use to the fullest the present channels of distribution, and to take advantage of the interstate retail systems. In the past few years, their farmer-consumer campaigns and other efforts have tapped new market for eight million producers. Meanwhile, if efforts to anchor the migrant farmer to the land are successful, California and the nation will have one big farm problem the less.

GALAHAD BREAKS PRISON

Fred Snite walks.

That news, from Miami, marks an incredible triumph in the saga of as brave a young man as ever lived.

Five years ago young Snite—handsome, rich, intelligent, popular—entered the prison of his iron lung. His sentence was life in that prison, but not a long life. No recourse of science could keep him alive, specialists said, for more than a few brief, tortured years.

The specialists were correct. No recourse of science, but the resources within Fred Snite— the dauntless will to live, the challenge flung into the face of death by that young Galahad—have performed the nearest thing to a miracle in human life.

Last year he married. Last week he walked. Walked with difficulty, leaning on his nurse's arm, breathing with aid of a portable light "lung"—but walked! When his baby is born in September, he asserts, he'll push its carriage!

Quite likely he will. Nothing can be impossible for a Galahad who has broken the walls of such a prison. Nor should bitterest discouragement overwhelm any person who knows his story.

WORKING FOR A HOME

California, to her sorrow, has pulled many a strange looking rabbit from the hats of her economic magicians.

But this time she has produced an idea arousing nationwide interest that is both new and practicable.

Knowing that many reliable, employed men, anxious to build a home of their own, find it impossible to save the several hundred dollars required for the 10 per cent down payment on F. H. A. loans, builder Joseph Greenbach of Palo Alto, has advanced the labor exchange plan as a solution to this obstacle. Homebuilders, willing and sufficiently qualified to do work connected with building a house, are permitted to work out the F. H. A. down payments on their own homes. Week-ends, holidays, and evenings offer prospective owners plenty of opportunity to enjoy the pleasant thrill of actually taking part in building their own homes, and making the 10 per cent payment at the same time.

In the near future, some 20 families in a residential development near Palo Alto will be moving into new homes, with down payments "financed" by the happy sweat of the owners' brows.

Housing officials in Washington, D. C., are now considering recommending the idea to other sections of the country. Far from visionary, this plan at least enables every prospective homeowner to hit pay dirt in his own front yard and strike a blow for prosperity with his own hammer.

NEW AIR RECORD

The country is flying high!

Air travel records are nonchalantly being broken almost as fast as they are made. One of the nation's major air lines announces its planes flew an estimated total of 20,870,700 revenue passenger miles in May—highest in the company's history and a 65 per cent gain over the revenue passenger miles flown in May a year ago. Airlines greatly improved safety records and lower rates are good reasons why the nation today is flying high!

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

California's insurgent "son of battle," the great irreconcilable, Senator Hiram W. Johnson—whom some men have passionately loved, and others passionately hated, but whom no one has ever successfully disregarded—is shaking his shaggy head again and making ready for one more tilt with the enemy!

For Hiram, the grizzled gladiator, who has fought for peace with furious tenacity, there is no peace. There is only battle.

And during the months just ahead, the redoubtable Hiram may be in for the fight of his lifetime — a fight to keep America out of European embroilment, regardless of what his friends think, or his enemies say, and a fight, at the polls in California to win vindication and retain his seat in the United States Senate.

It is an open secret that many of Senator Johnson's political advisors, believing that public sentiment favors unrestricted aid to the Allies, have urged him to compromise with his convictions, for politics' sake, and back away from his isolationist foreign policy. But his latest public declaration was an uncompromising pledge to "fight with all the strength I have left in my body" against attempts to repeal the Johnson Act, prohibiting credits to nations which have defaulted on their World War debts.

In fact, there is every indication that Senator Johnson, during his forthcoming campaign for re-election, will stay by his guns and vigorously denounce American participation in the war, either directly or indirectly, although admitting that he would like to see the Allies win.

Just how much capital Senator Johnson's opponents will be able to make of his anti-war attitude during the approaching campaign is debatable—and partly depending, probably, on future developments in the war situation and this country's relation to it.

Lieutenant Governor Ellis Patterson, one of the senatorial condidates, who started out denouncing President Roosevelt's war policies and demanding a foreign policy of non-intervention, has recently turned a political somersault and is now talking a better war on Mussolini. The political experts, however, place Mr. Patterson in the also-ran category, pointing to his fourth-rate showing in the presidential primary.

John Anson Ford, Los Angeles candidate for Senator Johnson's Senate seat, is considered more formidable, particularly in the southland. And Mr. Ford, according to his campaign managers, will campaign on a "help the Allies" platform.

The betting odds, however, still favor the shaggy warrior for peace, Senator Johnson, not so much because of his policies, but because of the man.

Mrs. Anthony Jurras and her daughters, Geraldine and Betty Jean, are vacationing at Capitola this week.

Bid Opening Is Postponed

The opening of bids for the construction of a manual training shop on Campbell grammar school grounds, advertised for this evening, has been postponed until Monday evening, to give necessary additional time in securing bids.

Construction of a 36x64 foot building, to be fully equipped for all types of shop work suitable for pupils of that age, will begin very shortly after the bid is let.

No bond issue will be called for to finance the building program under consideration, but funds will be available through a direct tax.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

Flying fortresses, battle cruisers and mechanized columns can defend the United states against an invader, if this country is adequately prepared, but no military machine can guarantee the liberties of the American people.

That guarantee can come only from the people themselves; from their resolve to live and work together, intelligently and tolerantly, as members of a democratic community.

There must be economic preparedness, moral preparedness; preparedness in the field and factory, and citizenship preparedness — if the people of the United States are to profit from the tragic experience of England and France and safeguard their liberties and democratic institutions.

France is paying now in the blood of her young men, and in an agony of calamity and uncertainty, for her national disunity of several years ago—for her sit-down and slow-down strikes, which paralyzed the French industrial machine and allowed Hitler to build tanks and bombers while France experimented with the left-wing Front Populaire.

When the idealistic but impractical premier, Leon Blum, took office, he sought to placate the Communists and their fellow travelers by making them part of the government; he raised wages and shortened hours, without regard to industry's ability to carry the load; he attempted nationalization of defense industries. But living costs and production costs soon outstripped wage increases; strikes spread like a contagion; unemployment increased; trade became stagnant — and government expenditures and taxes finally became unbearable. Blum's regime fell in April, 1938, but before it fell it paved the way for Hitler's march on Paris.

England, too, is paying a bitter price now, because her government leaders and her people failed for years to measure up to their responsibilities ,because class jealousies and petty wrangling blinded them to the hurricane gathering in Berlin.

This country, during the past decade, has passed through a period of disunity, class warfare, bureaucratic excesses and visionary experimentation not unlike that in France and England. American bureaucracy has curtailed production by irresponsible decree and has sandbagged private enterprise by government financed competition and drastic restrictive penalties. Strikes and civil war in labor's ranks have clogged production and thrown tens of thousands on relief, to be supported by already overburdened taxpayers. Politicians have catered to the shiftless and indolent—and made demagogic war on the industries.

Due to fortuitous circumstances, the United States still has time to put its house in order, if the people are sufficiently aroused to do so. Thus far, the Atlantic and Pacific oceans have protected us from the full consequences of our own folly, but economically we have paid a terrific toll for departing from the principles of a democracy.

If this country is to be fully prepared against invasion by propaganda; if it is to maintain respect throughout the world for democratic processes; if it is to solve its economic problems and put its people back to work—then the sober, thoughtful people of America need to bury past differences, real or fancied, and take firm hold of their job of self-government. Public officials who forget that they are public servants, and who behave like small editions of Herr Hitler, need to be retired to private life; toil and sweat need to be substituted for "something-for-nothing" philosophies, and attempts to sabotage America's system of private enterprise must be stamped out before they have brought disaster here, as they have overseas. The people of the United states are willing to pay billions for defense, if necessary. But they are sick and tired of paying tribute to political bureaucrats who spend their time and the taxpayers' money making war on the people who support them.

World This Week

The Shrinking Pacific

Steadily the Pacific shrinks. California, gateway to the Orient and the lands "down under," is today nearly two weeks closer to New Zealand. Full approval of the civil aeronautics authority has been given to the 75-passenger clipper ships to operate over the 8000 mile route. They'll cover in four and one-half days a distance that now requires 17 by steamer. Once a big ocean, the Pacific is fast becoming only a big lake!

Watch Out For Racketeers!

Beware the fifth column racketeer! Arrests already have been made of persons who have mulcted victims of funds to support a "California Americanism league." The Department of Justice has fortunately just set up a unit in California to combat self-appointed agents anxious to "defend" America against fifth columns for a price. The FBI is fully competent to deal with subversive elements. No citizen needs to "pay for protection."

AT BLANCO'S CAMPBELL SHOW

A Scene From "Typhoon"

"Typhoon" in full technicolor and Dorothy Lamour in less than ever will be at Blanco's Campbell theater today until Saturday inclusive.

This south sea romance roared in with a storm and a shipwreck that marooned little Dorothy on an uninhabited island, far from normal sea lanes. Scenes switch to a nearby island, ten years later, and to Robert Preston, derelict sailor.

Preston's life is saved, when his friend, Lyyne Overmann, shanghais him aboard his pearl hunting submarine after a bar room brawl with a Polynesian chief.

Preston, away from his party is overcome with heat and literally captured by Dorothy Lamour and her female chimpanzee, Koko.

Climatically, the terrifying typhoon follows a raging jungle fire. Following that is the terrific tidal wave that swamps the entire island!

The Misses Laura and Margaret Blaine left Saturday for a week at Yosemite. Miss Laura will return from there while Margaret goes on for a week in Lassen National park and another at Asilomar. She has been taking the course in Western Nature Study and at the conclusion of these three weeks study will have earned an A. B.
